

Product Summary

Jade Lemon™ is grown in the warm, humid climate of southeast China. While other lemons begin to release some of their oils aromatically as they turn yellow, the jade lemon fruit remains green even in maturity, allowing the concentration of oil to continue within the fruit. The oil is released only after the fruit is picked, giving it a richer and more fragrant aroma.

Jade Lemon contains high levels of d-limonene, which helps invigorate, uplift, and energise, as well as support clarity of thought and purpose. This oil supports skin health and is useful to clean and purify. A 1995 Mie University study also found that citrus fragrances can induce relaxation and invoke feelings of happiness.
