

Dorado Azul

Product Summary

Dorado Azul (pronounced “ah-sool”) is an essential oil grown and distilled from a single aromatic plant species in Ecuador.

Product Story

Gary Young rediscovered Dorado Azul in Ecuador as he was searching for additional land to grow plants for essential oil production. The strong aromatic nature of the plant prompted Gary to stop his vehicle and study the plant. Dorado Azul essential oil is the result of Gary’s rediscovery.

Dorado Azul is a plant that grows to a height of thirteen feet and is ready for oil production when the normally green leaves turn a purple hue. The one-inch stalks are cut and prepared for distillation at Young Living’s Ecuador farm, Finca Botánica Aromática.

This Ecuadorian essential oil has high levels of beta caryophyllene, which supports normal respiratory and digestive function. Dorado Azul can be applied to the skin to aid in soothing minor discomforts.
