

Product Summary

Young Living Founder and CEO D. Gary Young, has a passion for traveling the world in search of new essential oils. One of these new oils, Xiang Mao, was discovered high in Taiwan's southeastern mountain slopes and is grown by the aboriginal Paiwan tribe.

Cymbopogon citratus commonly known as red lemongrass is a rapid-growing clump grass that can grow up to nearly two metres tall. A member of the lemongrass family, Xiang Mao has a different constituent profile compared to traditional lemongrass. Xiang Mao mostly consists of Citronellal, Citronellol, Geraniol and is low in citral.

Xiang Mao was traditionally used as an air freshener, skin moisturiser and to enlighten the mind. It was also used in folk medicine for its calming effects and to promote relaxation. Xiang Mao's benefits and versatility make it ideal for many everyday uses.

Primary Benefits

- Useful as an all-natural way to clean.
- Supports skin moisture levels and condition.

Suggested Use

Topical: Apply to desired area. In case of sensitivity, dilute 15 drops in 10 ml of V-6™.

Aromatic: Diffuse up to 1 hour three times daily.

Key Ingredients

Cymbopogon citratus leaf oil.

Goes well with...

- Lemon essential oil
- Purification essential oil
- Cedarwood essential oil
- Melaleuca Alternifolia essential oil

Cautions

Keep out of reach of children. Avoid contact with eyes and mucous membranes. Not for internal use.

Did You Know?

- Xiang Mao is known as the "aromatic grass of rapid enlightenment" in Taiwan.
- ... has a gentle lemony scent with a pleasing complex aroma with a sweet note.
- ...grows at an elevation of 1000 feet (300m) in the mountains of Taiwan.

Product Information

Xiang Mao essential oil 5ml 465808