

Everything You Need To Know About ESSENTIAL OIL-INFUSED CBD

From Nature's Ultra and Young Living

YOUNG LIVING HAS PIONEERED THE ESSENTIAL OIL MOVEMENT FOR 25 YEARS, and members have been clamoring for cannabidiol (CBD) products backed by Young Living's Seed to Seal[®] standard. Young Living is committed to making sure that our employees and members have access to the best essential oil products, which is why we're working with Nature's Ultra, a wholly owned subsidiary partner, to ensure that you can get pure CBD products from a source you can trust.

WHAT IS CBD?

CBD stands for cannabidiol, one of the many cannabinoids found in both marijuana and hemp.

WHAT ARE CANNABINOIDS?

There are over 100 unique chemical compounds found in both marijuana and hemp called cannabinoids. The two most famous cannabinoids are CBD and THC. THC is the cannabinoid found in marijuana that gets you "high." CBD is the non-psychoactive cannabinoid found in hemp that has recently received so much attention in the health and wellness space.

WHAT ARE TERPENES?

Terpenes are a large and diverse class of organic compounds found in the essential oils of plants. Similar to cannabinoids, terpenes bind to receptors in the brain. Terpenes and cannabinoids work together to enhance the benefits of a product.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN CANNABIS AND HEMP?

Marijuana and hemp are two varieties of the same plant species, Cannabis sativa. Hemp has been bred to have very low levels of THC (0.3% or less) and high levels of CBD. Nature's Ultra products contain a CBD isolate, which has zero percent THC.

DOES NATURE'S ULTRA CBD CAUSE INTOXICATION?

No. Unlike marijuana which contains high levels of THC and may produce cognitive effects such as euphoric or dissociative feeling, Nature's Ultra CBD has 0.00% THC.

ARE THESE PRODUCTS OKAY FOR MILITARY MEMBERS TO USE?

Even though CBD isolates by definition contain zero percent THC, due to the varying accuracies of drug-screen tests, it is suggested that employees subjected to drug screening consult with their employer and Nature's Ultra before using the products.
