

ECUADORIAN OREGANO

15 ml Item No. 33860

Immerse yourself in the traditions of the lush South American tropics with Ecuadorian Oregano essential oil. This pure essential oil is cultivated and distilled in the rich soil of Young Living's Finca Botanica Farm and Distillery in Chongon, Ecuador. Ecuadorian Oregano is a powerful herb, found in villages and houses throughout South America, where grandmothers and herbalists alike have used it for generations.

Ecuadorian Oregano is not technically oregano, but is named such because of its softly herbaceous, oregano-like scent. This naturally pure essential oil offers a cleansing, invigorating aroma, and pairs perfectly with a relaxing massage for overworked muscles. If you love the soft, herbaceous scent of Oregano but need similar properties to Peppermint, R.C.™, or Cool Azul®, Ecuadorian Oregano is just for you!

PRODUCT BACKGROUND

The story of this unique essential oil starts in Ecuador, where Young Living Founder D. Gary Young came across a hardy, semi-succulent that produced a surprising amount of essential oil. Its aroma was similar to many oregano species with a moderately high carvacrol content. Ecuadorian Oregano (Plectranthus amboinicus) is thought to be originally from Africa but has spread throughout the world.

As such, it has many common English names like Mexican mint, Spanish thyme, Indian mint, French thyme, Mexican thyme, Cuban oregano, and Three-in-one herb. Another way to identify this oil is by its common and former scientific synonyms, which are: Coleus amboinicus, Coleus aromaticus, and Plectranthus aromaticus.
