

Product Summary

Hong Kuai (Chamaecyparis formosensis) is a treasured tree found only in the steep, mountainous rainforests of Taiwan. Hong Kuai's lasting, woody aroma makes it a prized lumber for building temples and shrines. Its name means "the respected trees for the temple-building society." Traditionally, Hong Kuai essential oil was used to support spiritual health during meditation, as a men's cologne, and as an air enhancer prior to the arrival of honored guests. Hong Kuai is one of the essential oils highest in sesquiterpenes and creates an overall balance of the body, mind, and soul.
