

Product Summary

Young Living is the only essential oil company to offer a professional sampling system with pure essential oils that not only simplifies the ability to share oils but also adds ease to building a business through an effective sampling model. Young Living's new samples contain individual, 10-count packets of five of our most popular products, including lavender, lemon, peppermint, Thieves®, and Peace & Calming®. These new samples are packaged in a box and are easy to carry in your purse or pocket. With these samples at your fingertips, there will no longer be missed opportunities to share Young Living's most popular oils.

Each sample is filled with 0.25 ml of oil, an amount perfect for a single usage experience. The packets are made from a durable, highly inert, proprietary material known for its many applications in the cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, and food production industries. It is among the most robust film materials available and has been tested for both durability and safety; its highly inert properties reduce the risk of reaction with strong, aggressive oils and helps ensure long-term product stability. Young Living has filed patents for the use of flexible film packets in sampling pure essential oils. We are the only essential oil company to develop this unique product application!

Primary Benefits

- Easy to share
